

Artist Statement

As a watercolorist I have an insatiable curiosity about life, art and the creative process. I try to paint the beauty that's in the world around me. Though I might exaggerate the color I see, it is only because I see the promise of that color and want to share it. My hope is when people look at my work they think, "That's where I, want to be." I want them to feel peaceful and happy when they see my work, I want to awaken their senses and take them to a magical place... their dreams.

Isn't that why we all need art in our lives?
